Who's For Truth in Labeling?

In Tallahassee, Florida, earlier this year, State Legislator Donald Reed asked the legislature to amend a "truth in packaging" bill which might have prevented women from legally wearing padded bras or wiglets. It might also have prevented them from wearing false eyelashes, contact lenses, hip pads, girdles, or make-up.

The language of the amendment included items tending to "alter the appearance of any package to such an extent as to deceive one as to the actual contents thereof."

Obviously, this could affect the use of many of those mysterious and secret things women are said to wear. And women, denied this privilege, might mount a revolution that would pit male against female in a battle that could only end in defeat for the lawmakers — and for the males.

All of this is a prelude to a view of a less intricate area of our daily existence. Labels and tags on everyday items are understandable because they have definite meaning. Trouble is, many of us think we know the meaning when we don't.

As a result, the label makes us believe we are getting something we are not — unless we understand. So here are meanings of some of the most ordinary products. These definitions have been authenticated by the Trust Department of the Bank of America NT&SA.

Potatoes for example. Did you know that U.S. No. 1 is not the top grade. It's the second. U.S. Fancy is No. 1 grade and U.S. Commercial is third.

There's gold. Karat is a measure of purity but is confused with carat which is a weight. Pure gold is 24K. 14K would mean that 14/24 of the metal's weight would be pure gold. Gold filled described an article to which a gold plating of at least 10K has been soldered or brazed. It does not mean the article has been filled with gold.

Diamond labeling can be confusing too. Blue white is a gem that does not show a trace of any color other than blue when inspected under normal daylight. Brilliant Cut or Full Cut is a round diamond with at least 32 faces or facets above the middle and at least 24 below. A Perfect Diamond has no cracks, flaws, spots or other blemishes visible when examined by a 10-power magnifier.

Broadloom rugs is carpeting that is at least six feet between seams. Most carpeting is broadloom and is usually produced in widths of 12 to 15 feet. Ply refers to the number of fibre threads wound together to make up the yarn. A larger number of plies does not in itself guarantee a better product.

Then there is the chicken. Guess what the label means. The term "inspected" means that the bird has been inspected for wholesomeness by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture. The grading — A, B, or C — has to do with the amount of meat in relation to the rest of the carcass. And by the way, a Capon is a young sexed rooster. He should be fleshier and more tender than his more virile brother. Rock Cornish Game Hens are not game birds. They are a special small, chunky breed of chicken and slaughtered when five to six weeks of age.

And finally, eggs. AA, A, B, and C grades refer to the height and firmness of the yolk and the thickness of the white — and not the size nor nutritional value. Sizes are based on weight to the dozen. For example: Small eggs, 18 ounces to a dozen; Medium, 21 ounces; Large, 24 ounces, and Extra Large, 27 ounces. The designations are those of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Now you know what's in the package — unless its wrapped in a girdle or topped by a wig.

More Help For Senior Citizens

Beer can save the world! At least it can in the world for senior citizens — if you want to believe Erwin Newton, a publicist, of Los Angeles. Newton, with the California Brewers Association as a client — who else — reported on an experiment in which beer was given to older patients at Cushing State Hospital for the Aged in Framingham, Mass., to dissipate loneliness and withdrawal.

Apparently, it worked! The experiment was initiated a year ago to rehabilitate aged patients who were irritable, anti-social, depressed and discontented.

It was so successful that doctors now plan to construct a permanent beer garden within the hospital.

According to Dr. Robert Kastenbaum, Cushing psychiatrist, a daily ration of twelve ounces of beer was served to 34 geriatric patients whose average age was 73. Doctors reported that in a short while the patients became "friendly and responsive, and took an interest in themselves and others." After two months, only four of the patients still required straight jackets. All became ambulatory compared to five before the experiment and all were able to do things for themselves compared to 10 previously.

Most impressive, says Dr. Kastenbaum, was the reduction and, in some cases, complete elimination of drugs. Before the experiment, 26 of the 34 men were receiving the tranquilizing drugs thiorazine and mellaril daily. At the end of two months with beer, none required thiorazine and only five required mellaril.

Cushing officials are so convinced of the value of the beer program that they want to expand it and set up a beer garden or cabaret where the social aspects of beer drinking. Continued on Page 4

$6 Million Bond Election Slated

Lemon Grove and Spring Valley voters will get their chance to help alleviate the growing pressure of an increasing student population when a $6 million construction bond issue goes before them on October 17.

Approval of the bond issue would enable the Grossmont High School District to spend most of the allotted money during the 1971-72 school year, when the districts bonding capacity reaches 5.2 million.

Dr. John T. Warburton, district superintendent, projected the possibility of voters facing both the high school bond issue and a $9 million Grossmont Hospital construction bond issue.

A $2 million bond issue was defeated by voters in the district in April. The projected $6 million issue is to cover the next five years of operation in the school district.

In other business conducted by the Trustees, Rexford I. Hall, El Cajon, was re-elected president of the board. Hall has served in this capacity for seven consecutive years. Hall, who is starting his 23rd year as a member of the Grossmont District Board of Trustees, is also president of the Grossmont College Board.

Mrs. Portia Goode, first elected to the board in 1956, was awarded the job of clerk of the board for the ninth time.

Dr. Warburton is now in his fourth and final year of his four-year superintendent term and does not wish any consideration of his contract until finally, superintendent.

California Spokesman Raps Arizona Project Legislation

A leading spokesman for California uses of Colorado River water termed the Central Arizona Project bill approved Thursday, June 29, by the Senate Interior Committee, a "complete sellout by Arizona to the Northwest and the conservationists."

Norcutt Ely, speaking for the Colorado River Board of California which he represents in Washington, D.C., as special counsel, said "Arizona's unjustified decision to ram this bill through committee destroys the Basin's hopes for a real seven-state agreement on a solution to our mutual water problems."

"The Secretary of the Interior has disgracefully repudiated all the inducements of regional cooperation he endorsed last year," Ely said in rebuking Stewart Udall's disavowal of last year's basin-wide bill (H.R. 4671).

"The Central Arizona Project bill marks a retrogression to the dark days of Colorado River strife and internecine conflict which we had hoped were behind us and intensifies an already grave situation of water supply deficiencies."

"Not only has Arizona chosen to reject the aspirations of her sister states," Ely added, "but the brazen provision to tap Hoover power revenues to help pay for Arizona's project means that she is also scrapping a fundamental principle of the Boulder Canyon Project Act, California water users paid for the All-American Canal themselves; not a dime came from Hoover Dam money."

Ely, who also is Special Assistant Attorney General of California, noted that Gov. Ronald Reagan and the California State Department of Water Resources had also taken the position that any "fair and equitable" Colorado River bill must contain provisions for (1) priority protection (not merely for 27 years) of California's legal entitlement to 4.4 million acre-feet of Colorado River water annually; (2) some prompt and meaningful study of means to bring an annual minimum of 2.5 million acre-feet of imported water into the mainstream of the river, and (3) a Hualapai Dam to produce revenue for a development fund with which to finance future regional developments.

Fire Burns Nearby Hillside

A fifty-acre hillside facing Palm Avenue near Freeway 94 in La Mesa, was set afire Tuesday evening endangering 30 homes in the area.

The fire, which attracted 15 fire units, was easily visible from most parts of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley. The fire was started, according to La Mesa Fire Captain Jerry Barnes, by youngsters playing with fireworks. No arrests were made.

Under a new Heartland Mutual Aid program, two units from Lemon Grove; 11 from State Division of Forestry, and one from El Cajon aided five from the La Mesa department. 14 off-duty firemen responded to the call in addition to on duty personnel.

The fire was brought under control at 7:43 p.m., an hour and 15 minutes after the alarm. There was no damage to structures and no one was injured.

Longer Days, Crowded Rooms Face Area High Schoolers

Larger classes and longer school days are now a possibility due to the overcrowding in the Grossmont High District's nine schools in September, Dr. John T. Warburton, superintendent, announced.

Lemon Grove and Spring Valley students attending the three area high schools, Mount Miguel, Monte Vista, and Helix will be affected by the overcrowding classroom situation. A 700-student increase is expected in the district, and the easing of some temporary meal rooms will not alleviate the problem.

School officials are planning a couple of remedial attempts including the jamming of more students into classrooms and also a lengthening of the school day. One other method that has been discussed by the trustees is the recommendation of the use of tents. Superintendent Warburton said not to discard this suggestion as being unfeasible.

Conditions are expected to be serious at Mount Miguel, where some classes will be forced to meet in the custodial storeroom. Speech classes will meet in the homemaking room and four metal classrooms have been leased to be used as study halls.

The moving of three classes of mentally retarded children to El Cajon Valley High will help alleviate the traffic jam at Monte Vista, but the science department is expected to suffer from a shortage of space. A biology laboratory class is being forced to meet in a regular classroom without the necessary facilities.

Helix faces a problem in the science and social studies departments, with the lengthening of the day or possible night classes seen as possible solutions.

Fire Damages Jack-in-Box

Lemon Grove Jack-in-the-Box, Broadway and Kempf, was closed for a little more than a day following an early morning fire Tuesday.

Fire Captain Mark Foote said a "stubborn" grease fire resulted from an overheated deep fryer at 1:40 a.m.

John Lind, manager of the drive in, said the damage amounted to "a couple of hundred dollars" but firemen reported that flames had burned ceiling joints and melted composition on the roof.

PROUD DAUGHTERS — The daughters of Alvin Larsen, both graduates of Helix High School, look on proudly as Pop displays his new teaching credential. Sharon, 20, left, a dental technician, was graduated in 1963. Mary, 18, was graduated last year. She will attend Berkeley. Interesting fact is that Larsen, who retired from the Navy in 1964 after 24 years in the service quit high school to go into the Navy. He acquired his education as a Navy man, retiring as a Chief Dental Technician. He attended school at night starting in 1955; was graduated from Grossmont with a degree in social arts in 1963; was graduated from State last year with a BA in English. He was a cadet teacher at Helix this spring. He obtained a Standard Secondary Credential a few days ago and will teach full time at Helix starting in September. Mr. and Mrs. Larsen live at 3283 Buena Vista in Lemon Grove.

First Full Time Home Teacher Retires From LM-SV District

With the retirement of Mrs. Helen Van Dusen this month the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District lost a staff member who was the first teacher to be appointed to a full time home teaching position.

Mrs. Van Dusen, a native of Washington, was first employed in the District in 1946 by then-Superintendent David Barnes. She taught fifth and sixth grades for six and one half years at Spring Valley Elementary School under Mrs. Minnie Rushing, principal, and one semester under Mrs. Margaret Cross at Lemon Avenue School. In 1953 she was offered and accepted the position of a full time home teacher, a responsibility she held until her retirement. Mrs. Van Dusen said that as

Elementary School and hoped to teach there—which she did. Mrs. Van Dusen said that while home teaching is much different from classroom teaching she liked it because she works with individual students and avoids some of the frustrations that come when one's attention must be divided among many students. Dr. Margery McIntosh, director of pupil personnel services, said, "Because of Mrs. Van Dusen's particular interest in child study, her understanding of both children and parents, her competency in teaching from first through eighth grade and a special interest in crafts, she made a superb home teacher. We will miss her."

Mrs. van Dusen he traveled back and forth to San Diego State College as a student she watched the construction of Spring Valle

Prior to becoming a teacher Mrs. Van Dusen had raised three children and at one time worked as a cashier in El Centro for Pacific Telephone. Her husband, Major William L. Van Dusen, who was killed in a bomber crash in 1942 in New Mexico, was a veteran flier.

Hospital Expansion Issue May Also Face Area Voters

Grossmont Hospital's Board of Directors will meet August 1 to consider the possibility of a $9 million, 10-story outpatient addition to the community facility.

A 500 bed institution would be the outcome of such an addition, which would make the hospital the second largest community hospital in San Diego County. The present facility holds 216 beds.

Leverett Bristol, hospital administrator, is in the process of obtaining detailed cost estimates for the proposed separate wing, with preliminary figures running between $5 million and $9 million according to Bristol.

An authorization by the hospital board for the expansion would place the bond issue before the voters this fall, possibly on the same election day as the $6 million Grossmont High School Bond issue.

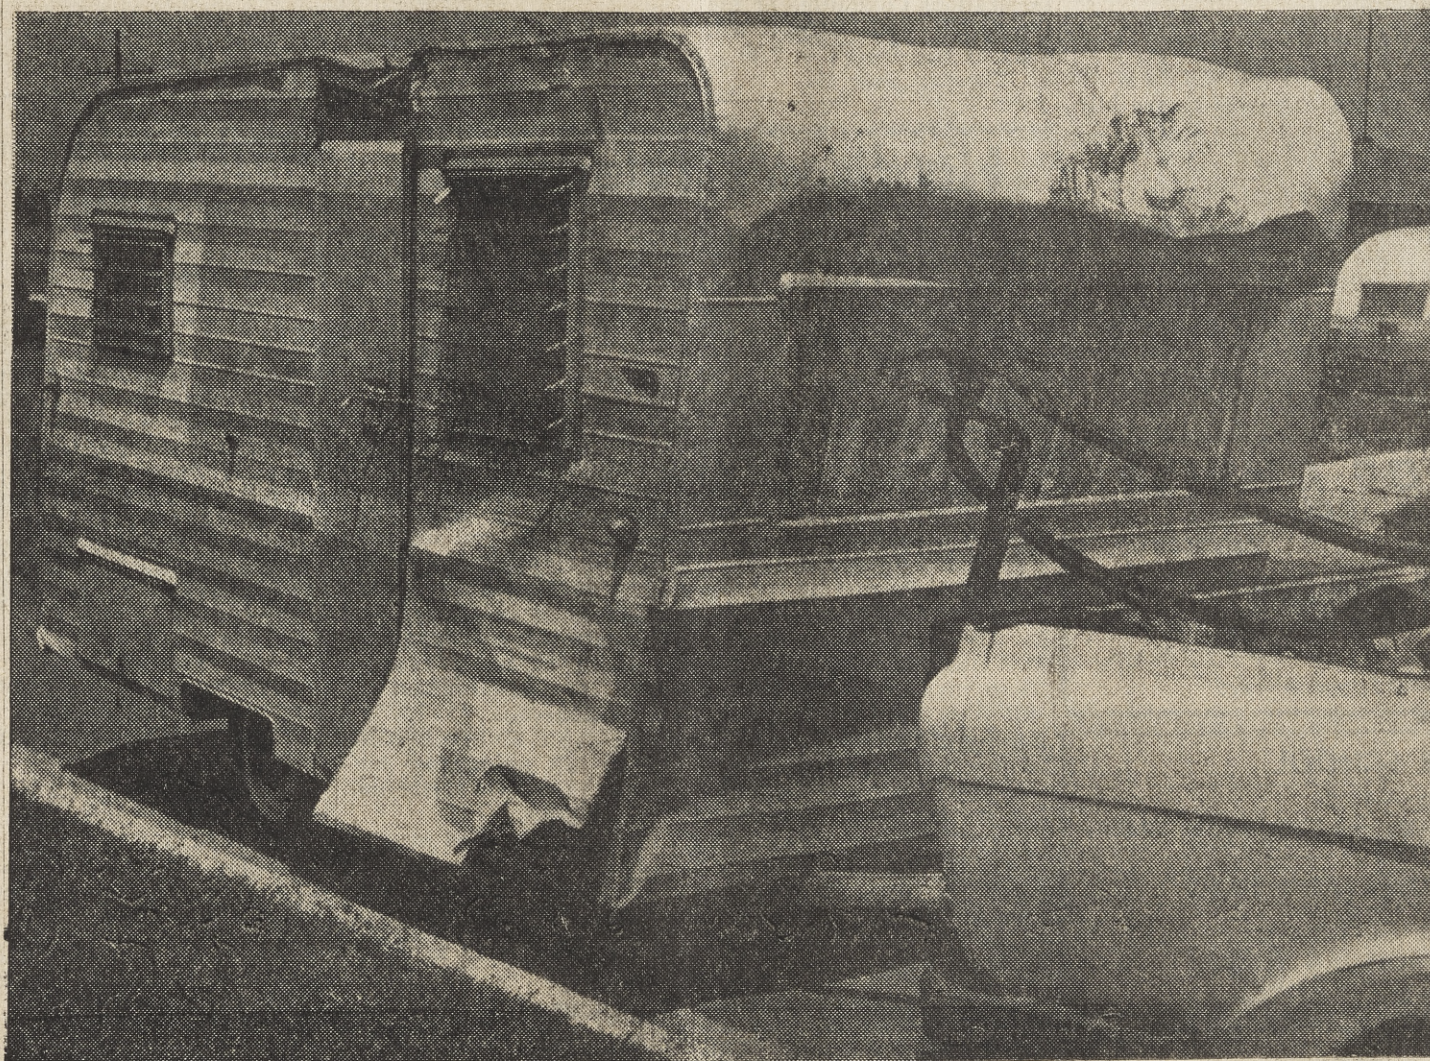

Even with the approval of the bond issue it would be about three years before the complete 500-bed facility would be available. The structure is estimated for a $7 million tab, with the addition costs rising from architect's fees and the installation of fixtures.

Construction of a $933,000 over plant has just been completed and put into use at the hospital, while an administration and records wing is now under construction at a cost of around $300,000.

Grossmont's operating budget of $5 million is raised from taxes, while the revenue coming from the tax levy is used for retiring bonds and purchasing new equipment and buildings. Bristol estimated this year's budget to be 19 per cent higher than the previous year.

The present hospital facilities were built in 1955 with a second wing added in 1962 bringing the total hospital construction bill to $5.5 million. Occupancy increases in all departments of the hospital have caused the demand for expansion of facilities.

NEAR TRAGEDY — The family of Grossmont Union High School District Trustee Palmer Svalstad narrowly escaped injury when a large tree limb fell on their trailer one night last week. The Svalstads live at 7857 Longdale, Lemon Grove, where the picture was taken. Svalstad's daughter and son-in-law, Beverly and Bob Manis, and their three children were asleep at Oaksenita, near Green Valley Falls when the limb fell across the truck and trailer early Sunday morning doing considerable damage. The Manises were in the camper. The kids were in a nearby tent. No one was injured. The property was insured, Svalstad said.

GROUNDBREAKERS — This forsome tosses the first shovel of ground signifying the start of a new $190,000 sanctuary for the First Baptist church of Lemon Grove at Main and Burnell. Ceremony was held Sunday as the congregation gathered about. In the photo are: John Blaine, the Reb. Robert Kleinschmidt, pastor of the church, Mrs. Blaine, and Dr. Hattox. The Blaines are charter member of the church, having joined 25 years ago. Dr. Hattox is chairman of the church's building committee. The new building will be ready next spring.

L.G. Baptists Break Ground For $190,000 Sanctuary

The congregation of the First Baptist Church of Lemon Grove observed the ground breaking for a new $190,000 three story sanctuary building, following the morning worship services last Sunday.

The Rev. Robert E. Kleinschmidt, pastor of the church, and Dr. Frank Hattox, chairman of the Building Committee, turned over the first shovel of dirt on the site of the building, the northwest corner of Main and Burnell streets.

Hardison's Telespanish

In Spanish as in English, adjectives are words that modify other words. If, for example, we wish to modify the word "hombre" (man) with the adjective "bueno" (good) we may say "hombre bueno" (good man). In this case you will note that the adjective "bueno" comes after the word it modifies. Thus, Spanish adjectives usually follow the nouns they modify.

Another consideration must be given to Spanish adjectives. They must be the same gender as the words they modify. This means that masculine nouns must have masculine adjectives and feminine nouns must have feminine adjectives. In the case of "hombre bueno," the masculine noun "hombre" has a masculine adjective, "bueno." If we change the noun to "mujer" (woman), which is feminine, then we must also change the adjective to "buena" when it modifies a feminine noun.

Spanish adjectives must also agree in number with the words they modify. This means that a noun which is singular, such as "hombre"

(man), must use a singular adjective like "bueno" (good) to modify it. When the noun changes to the plural form "hombres" (men), then it must use a plural adjective like "buenos" to modify it.

Read the following phrases and see how the adjectives agree with the nouns they modify. You may practice these same phrases on your home telephone when you dial 276-2762. An automatic recording will say each word and phrase for you. A pause will be provided between each word and phrase during which you are invited to repeat aloud the same expressions.

IMPORTANT EXPRESSIONS
Say "Es un hombre bueno." (ehs oon OHM-breh boo-EH-noh) for "He is a good man."
Say "Es una mujer buena." (ehs OHN-nah moo-HEHR boo-EH-nah)
for "She is a good woman."

USEFUL EXPRESSIONS
Say "Son hombres buenos." (sohn OHM-brehs boo-EH-nohs)

Guest Speaker Stresses Patriotism At Spring Valley Kiwanis Fete

Spring Valley's Kiwanis Club has begun a campaign to have Frank Berger elected Lt. Governor of Division 31, on Aug. 13, when Kiwanians picnic at Pine Valley Park. Berger will have one opponent from Alpine.

The Spring Valley Club, with Alex Struthers, as campaign manager, has made up several men's helmets with the name Frank Berger printed in the shield. These helmets will be worn by S.V. Kiwanis members when they attend other Kiwanis clubs in the division, prior to election day.

The week of July 2 was "God Bless America" week and the guest speaker at the July 5 breakfast-meeting of the Spring Valley club was Lester Wahrenbrock, director of Employment for the San Diego Unified School District.

His subject was "Patriotism." He said a patriot should be person who does more than cite the Pledge of Allegiance on various occasions, sing the National Anthem and read the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights. Wahrenbrock stated there is a lot more to it than that and Americans should become so patriotic whenever they come in contact with any famous national document.

"Patriotism is not always easy," Wahrenbrock pointed out. He said we have obligations to meet to be patriotic. First off, we should be well informed on all subjects that pertain to America and the world. We must get the facts straight.

We should be responsible and respectful to the law, he said. We should obey all traffic laws, the income tax law and others that are laid down by our Congress and Senate. We must all try to be honest. It is up to the individual to exercise this virtue.

Everything adds up to responsible citizenship. He urged that "All Government is our Government."

Meet Day Change Faces LG Men's Club Voters

Fizz Your Stains Away

You've got to hand it to those Better Business Bureau boys. They're real good detectives.

Some of them decided the other day that there was a ring of phonyhood attendant those television commercials proclaiming that stains can be removed from dentures rapidly by use of certain fizzing preparations.

Specifically, the Polident commercial, featuring the smiling egg with iodine smeared over its "teeth" was the one which aroused our curiosity and that of the BBB boys.

This commercial showed the egg being painted with iodine then immersed in a glass of water into which was dropped a Polident tablet. By the time the tablet stopped fizzing, the iodine stain had completely vanished.

Following their lead, we acquired a bottle of iodine, and a carton of grade A eggs. We painted an egg with iodine, let it dry thoroughly and dropped it in a glass of water — without Polident.

Within minutes, the iodine stain had completely disappeared.

BBB took two glasses, two eggs, and a Polident tablet. They reported the same results as we. They dropped a Polident tablet in one of the glasses. When the fizzing stopped the iodine was gone from the egg in that jar.

But the same result was accomplished in the glass with plain water!

Whatever else our research indicates, it also proves that you don't need Polident tablets to take iodine stains off your eggs.

Health Tips Help Owners

To Curb Pool Accidents

According to the California Medical Association, accidents in California see many cases of irritation and infection of eyes, ear, nose, throat, and skin traceable to improperly maintained private pools, and accidents (including drowning) to children will continue.

To safely enjoy the health and recreational benefits of a pool, it is only common sense to follow some of the rules governing public facilities. For example:

Safety
1) Fencing or covering — When adults or competent older youngsters are not present, be sure your pool is adequately fenced or covered to keep younger children from danger. They should never be left to use the pool without supervision.

2) Depth markers — depth of water should be plainly marked at shallowest and deepest points and (no more than 25 feet apart) at depth changes in larger pools. To prevent small children from suddenly stepping off a ledge into deep water there should be no break in the gradual slope until a depth of five feet is reached.

3) Handholds, ladders, steps — where overflow gutters do not serve the purpose, there should be a handhold not more than 9 inches above normal water level. Steps or ladders should be provided if the distance from the bottom of the pool to poolside is over 2 feet. Heads should be non-slip.

4) Walkways — paved surface around the pool should be non-slip and adequately drained away from the pool.

5) Lighting — if pool is to be used at night, it should have underwater lighting that will light the bottom and the volume of the pool with no blind spots or equivalent. Overhead lighting, if used, should be checked by a competent electrician at the beginning of each summer season.

Sanitation

1) Water supply — shall be from a community water system holding a State Board of Public Health permit, or from some other source approved for the purpose by the health officer.

2) Pool skimming — floating debris, silt, and debris should not be allowed to accumulate in the pool.

O.T. Days Luaua

Scheduled Again

Another informal luau has been scheduled by officers of the Lemon Grove Old Time Days Association. The one held earlier this year was an outstanding success.

This one will be held at the L.G. V.F.W. Hall, 2235 Imperial ave., Friday, July 21.

The organization's newly elected officers will be present at the affair, said Dr. Sam Smith, immediate past president.

New officers are Al Woods, president; Steve Tabin, vice president and treasurer, and Joyce Foss, secretary.

Refreshments will be served at 6:30 and dinner will be at 7:30. Before and after dinner entertainment will be provided by the Ben Casey All Stars, a ranking musical aggregation.

A warning has been brought out a capacity turnout. It is believed that a similar situation will result at the upcoming one.

Reservations should be made with Joyce Foss at the Chamber of Commerce office. The phone number is 469-9621.

S.V. Recreation Annexation

Faces Expected Opposition

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The expected opposition to the annexation of the Highland and Bancroft School attendance areas to the Spring Valley Recreation District was revealed Monday at the hearing before the Local Agency Formation Commission.

The commission, however, approved the annexation and he matter will now go to the county board of supervisors for a hearing because the supervisors are the directors of the recreation district.

The eventual decision will be up to the people living in the attendance area because three of the five supervisors (Robert Dent, Henry Boney and Robert Cozens) have stated publicly they favor an election. It is likely the other two members feel the same way.

An election is mandatory if there is a 10 per cent protest, which also appears likely.

Mrs. Janice Dypvik told the commission she had petitions signed by 200 persons in opposition to the annexation. She did not submit them after chairman Robert Cozens told her the commission was not interested in how popular the annexation was, only in whether it was a logical extension of the district boundaries.

The desire of Casa de Oro to annex to the district was also discussed but commission executive officer Robert Small said the proposed boundary of this annexation was so vague even if it were legal to do so, that it could not be included.

Both of those items may be on the agenda of the next meeting of the LAFC, which is set for Aug. 14.

Metropolitan Water

District Receives

Financial Bonds

One hundred million dollars changed hands in Los Angeles on July 5 when Franklin Stockbridge, senior vice president of Security First National Bank, presented a check in that amount to the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.

The check was in payment for the first in a series of District general obligation bonds to be issued to finance the construction of facilities to distribute Northern California water to most of the Southern California coastal plain.

Accepting the check on behalf of the District was Treasurer Marcel G. Ott.

Issuance of a total of $850 million in such bonds by the District was authorized by the voters at an election in June of last year.

Thefts, Vandalism

Strikes in Valley

A rash of petty thefts hit the Spring Valley area last week along with two reports of mischief in the area junior high, according to the San Diego County Sheriff's Department.

Mark Bowen, 8626 Eileen st., reported the theft of a tube tester. The suspect apparently entered an open front door at the residence.

Sadie Serr, 8990 Lamar st., notified the department of the theft of two fibre glass contour chairs from the backyard of her home.

Gloria Goodman, 1531 Walbollen, reported the theft of her son's bicycle, with the estimated value of the bike set at $35.

Jack Wheelchel, 827 Park brood st., reported the theft of $25 worth of fishing equipment from his garage.

Larry West, 811 Thayer, reported that $300 worth of tools were taken from his garage, including an electric saw, sockets and drives, a compression gage, and a tool box.

Jerry Hoover, 1319 Sweetwater rd. told the Sheriff's Department that someone shot nine chickens in his chicken coops.

Two reports came in from Spring Valley Junior High, 3900 Conrad, stating that youths had broken windows, marked walls, with hands and rocks and were shooting BB's between buildings.

District Students Given Top Driver Training

ENGINE EXAM — Behind-the-wheels instructor Jared R. Homesley, center explains some of the more basic workings of the modern car engine to Mount Miguel students at the Summer Drivers Training program. To the left of Homesley is Mike Clark and Chris Collier and to the right stands Tom Higdon and Joe Herrera. The All-State trailer is in the background. The automobile was donated to the Grossmont School District for the training program by Pat Grace Ford of Lemon Grove.

Simulation Experience Key Factor

High School students in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area are being given a guiding hand in efforts to improve efficiency of our young automobilists.

The Grossmont Union High School District with the cooperation and aid of the All-State Insurance Company is conducting a 12-day summer driver education program at the Mount Miguel High School campus on Sweetwater rd.

The students receive 2 hours of driving instruction, 2 hours in the All-State Mobile Trailer Simulator and 1 hour of actual behind-the-wheel experience, using automobiles donated by various dealers in the area, including Pat Grace Ford of Lemon Grove.

The All-State Driver Trainer Simulator, one of two in operation in the Grossmont District is a mobile trailer equipped with 18 drivers booths or compartments and an intricate computer set-up which analyzes the performances of the students in their separate compartments.

With the use of projected films, and the helpful narration of the instructors, the students go through actual driving experiences and situations in an attempt to prepare them for the occurrences which will face them on the road.

Each student compartment is equipped with a like-size front instrument panel and feet mechanisms as they would appear in a normal car. There is the steering wheel, speedometer, turn signals, ignition, mirrors, brake pedals, clutch, gas pedal, emergency brake, etc.

The student drivers make their moves and decisions as they watch the prepared film at the end of the trailer. The films are designed to confront the students with all possible situations as they would appear on the road.

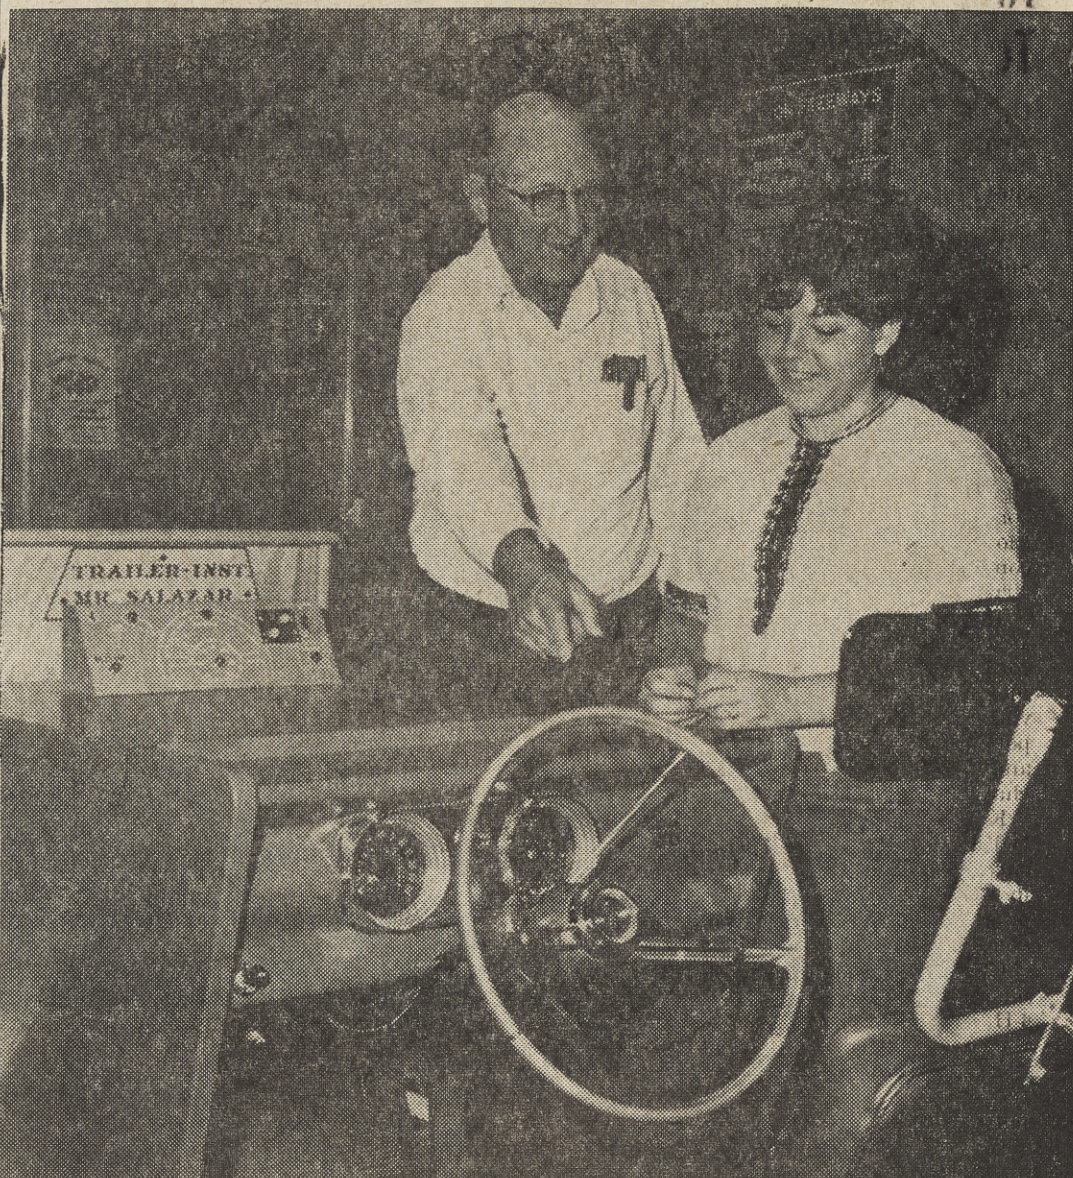

The instructor follows the progress of each individual student with a centralized computer, with a red light shining when the student isn't responding properly in the various maneuvers of driving. The computer checks the following areas of performance: brakes, steering, directional signals, clutch, speed, and overall performance.

The instructor will stop the film and offer personal instruction when necessary as he keeps close tabs on each driver.

"The simulation procedure is a pretending device," stated instructor Lloyd Donahoo. "You pretend you are actually driving a car."

"It is used as an aid in the broadest of terms," commented Donahoo, "and it shows the various situations and how to react to them."

Donahoo emphasized that the real value of the system is what the students get out of

Grossmont Trustees Restore Half Of Proposed Slash In 1967-68 Budget

Trustees of the Grossmont College reversed action taken last week by restoring half of a previous $100,000 budget cut Tuesday.

The Trustees reversed their action in the area of teachers salaries, where the governing group increased the salary raise for instructors from a 2.7 per cent cost-of-living hike to a 4 per cent increase.

The $100,000 cut the Trustees had ordered from the proposed budget was an attempt to reduce the tax rate increase which had been estimated at about 25 cents more for each $100 of assessed valuation.

But the addition of the $50,

000 to the budget is not expected to hike the tax rate again, said Harold Hughes, president of Grossmont College.

Despite the greater assessed valuation in the district (about 10 per cent higher), the tax rate is expected to rise some 25 cents over last year, from 38 cents to 63 cents.

In an attempt to balance the addition of the teachers hike, the Trustees removed from the budget a $25,000 item that had been proposed to reduce the teaching load in the faculty. Also, some of the proposed increase in the salaries of the evening teachers was cut out. In this area, the College is thinking of a switch from the paying the evening teachers on an hourly basis to a pay scale based on the college unit plan.

In other action by the Board of Trustees, Woodrow MacDowell was permitted to locate a mobile home on the campus at Grossmont to enable the plant manager to easily attend various weekend functions and activities in which he takes part.

Krog, Nielsen Take Seats On LM-SV School Board

Two new members of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District Board of Trustees were seated at the July 5 meeting of the board. They were Christian Krog and Edward Nielsen, who defeated Dr. William McCandless and Victor Walton at the polls in April.

Hardy Kuykendall was elected president of the board, succeeding Rev. Arne Christensen. Krog was elected board clerk.

Krog and Nielsen got a touch of the long-time controversy of "silent-time" in the schools, whereby children were given a time each day to say a silent prayer or think a good thought. A short discussion was held on the subject, following the reading of a letter which pointed out that the program was ineffective. No action was taken.

The board also approved a request that first, second and third grade students have staggered schedules next year. The plan calls for half the pupils in a class to go to school earlier than the other half.

San Diego County Tourist Trade To Benefit From California Expo

Distant San Diego County will be one of the prime beneficiaries when the California Exposition opens its gates in Sacramento next year, Cal Expo Marketing Director Robert Lyte predicted this week.

Although 503 miles separate San Diego and the state capital, Lyte forecast that the border metropolis would experience a marked increase in tourism as a direct result of Exposition activities in 1968 and 1969.

Cal Expo—a 630-acre "Showcase of the Golden State"—will be inaugurated in June of 1968, and will hold its first full year of programs and special events in 1969, California's bicentennial year.

An estimated 2.5 million persons are expected to visit The Exposition in 1968, with 3.5 million attending the following year.

Lyte listed five reasons why San Diego stood to be among those California counties which will derive the strongest immediate and continuing benefit from the existence of The Exposition.

They were:

1. San Diego's own aggressive and imaginative approach to tourist promotion.

2. Its wealth of tourist facilities and recreational lures such as Balboa Park, Sea World, Mission Bay, and its enticing climate.

3. Its geographical position as California's "Gateway to Mexico."

4. Its special claim to our state heritage dating back to 1542, when Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo discovered San Diego Bay.

5. San Diego's own elaborate bicentennial celebration plans. Lyte saw The Exposition and San Diego's special bicentennial celebrations as complementing each other.

SV Streets Set For Improvement

Second District Supervisor Henry A. Boney announced that the Board of Supervisors, by resolution dated July 5, 1967, approved the award of a contract to V. R. Dennis Construction Co., San Diego, for $12,670.23 for a road improvement in his (second) district.

The improvement consists of placing a slurry seal on various streets in the vicinity of Spring Valley and the City of El Cajon, a total distance of 7.59 miles.

Mr. Boney noted that this slurry seal process is an asphalt (black top) surface sealing by paving machine, which improves surface texture and aids in preventing deterioration of the underlying pavement. It necessitates road closing only during the paving process (about 4 hours) and causes very little inconvenience to the public.

The Second District Supervisor added that streets affected in Spring Valley would be as follows: Blossom lane, Brampton st., Cameron dr., Cornwall st., Darby st., Dorchester st., Elkton blvd., Elfield st., Garwood ct., Gilford ct., Lockland ct., Osage dr., Stansbury st., Stoneridge dr., Tarleton st., and Walbollen st.

Contractors expect to accomplish their work between mid-July and August.

Daley Firm Begins Paving New Freeway

Daley Corporation is scheduled to start paving the stretch of Highway 94 freeway this week, from just west of Merritt dr., to the new east end of Kenwood dr. (adjacent to Kenora dr.).

The four-lane road should be completed by the first week of August, according to Allen Wrenn, residential engineer for the California Division of Highways. At the new intersection of the Freeway and Kenwood dr., traffic signals will be installed about July 17 and will be in operation when the freeway is completed.

Kenwood dr. will have two entrances and exits; the first, west of the McGowan Turkey Ranch and the second at Casa de Oro.

Motorists coming off Campo rd. between Bancroft dr. and Merritt dr., can go to Merritt dr., then turn onto the freeway and make a right turn to go west.
